WATCH HILL, R. I. — Harold Kneen of Sachems Head sailed off with championships in the Eastern Connecticut Yacht Racing Association 30th annual regatta.

In all 103 one-design racing craft completed in the final day of the three-day sailing fest on Little Narragansett Bay. A southerly breeze of between six and eight knots prevailed as nine different classes of boats put the cork on this foremost yearly event of the 22-member association.

Kneen, a New Haven banker who is commodore of the ECYRA and past commodore of the Sachems Head club in Guilford, finished fourth of 18 entries in the Ensign fleet in the final race, but held onto first place in the accumulative standings. He had been first and second in the first two races Friday and Saturday.
